PLOT TO SEIZE KREMLIN DESCRIBED. AT MOSCOW TREASON TRIAL

COUP PLANNED NINE YEARS AGO

BUKHARIN DENIES AGREEMENT WITH FOREIGN POWERS

Moscow, March 7. A plot to seize the Kremlin, kill the Soviet leaders and get control of the O.G.P.U. was described by Bukharin, ex-president of the Comintern, when the treason trial was resumed.

Bukharin, with a worn and strained appearance, declared that he began to plan the coup in 1929 with the aid of military leaders and Rykov, who intended to use his position as Premier to further the aims of the plot.—(Reuter).

At this morning's hearing of the spy trial, Bukharin, former president of the Comintern, denied having co-operated with any foreign intelligence service.

He violently contested such charges and further denied having made an agreement with foreign powers.—(Transocean).

MORE TRIALS

Moscow, March 7. Simultaneously with the Moscow mass spy trial, more so-called Trotskyist trials are going on in various parts of Soviet Russia.

Although Moscow as usual, is silent on the matter, details are revealed by the provincial press.

At Shejabinsk, officials of a tractor factory are accused of Trotskyism. Near Chita, Siberia, eleven railway officials are accused of espionage on behalf of Japan.

In the town of Komsomolsk, seven young Communists, including girls, are accused.

At Petropavlovsk, Kamchatka, 17 members of the military garrison and four members of the local department of the Ministry of Interior, have been executed for sabotage of national defence and undermining of the Red Army, on the eve of the anniversary of the Red Army, February 22.—(Transocean).

BIG ARMAMENT PROGRAMME

Norway's Decision

Oslo, March 7.

Norway has decided to follow the example of other European countries in carrying out a big armament programme. It is understood that in the course of the next few days, the Norwegian Government will ask for Parliament's authority to raise a big loan for this purpose.

It is proposed to spend 25,000,000 kroner more on defence.

Furthermore, the Government will ask for a supplementary grant of 10,000,000 kroner for the construction of roads and railways of military importance.

Political circles here are pointing out that the latter measure can only be interpreted as one designed to ward off the danger of Soviet-Russian invasion from the north.—(Transocean).

Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Goodman and Mr. and Mrs. P. Barry Parks, of the Kowloon Docks, are proceeding on leave today aboard the C.P.S. liner Empress of Canada.

PARLIAMENT ELECTIONS IN EGYPT

Daily Clashes Reported

SIXTY WAFDISTS ARRESTED

Cairo, March 7.

The campaign for elections to the Egyptian Parliament, which is scheduled to take place two weeks hence, is giving rise practically every day to clashes between Wafdist and their political opponents. According to reports here from Alexandria, 60 Wafdist were arrested by the police in that city on Monday morning for demonstrations.

In order to be prepared for all eventualities, the police authorities have strengthened their forces by enlisting special constables for the duration of the election campaign. The chief editor and two associate editors of the Wafd paper, Misri, were arrested before their paper printed false reports which alleged that Wafdist sympathisers in the town of Tanta were arrested and maltreated by the police.—(Transocean).

NERVOUSNESS IN FRANCE

London, March 7.

The vague reference made by the French Premier, M. Chamberlain, on "important sacrifices" in connexion with national security served to create a certain amount of nervousness in the French this morning.

After opening at 153.93, a moderate volume of offerings from the continent drove down the rate to 154.50, at which level French control succeeded in arresting the fall.

At the same time, the depreciation was assisted by sales of francs for commercial account especially against purchases of dollar.—(Reuter).

ASSASSINATION OF CHINESE GENERAL

Chow Feng-chi Or Liu Pu-sing?

Hankow, March 7.

The assassination of General Chow Feng-chi in Shanghai has caused a great sensation here.

It has long been understood that General Chow was negotiating with the Japanese with a view of taking some post in one of the proposed Japanese new governments.

It is presumed that the murderers were members of Chinese patriotic bodies in Shanghai who were determined to get rid of him, as a "traitor".

General Chow Feng-chi was aged 58.

An official French police report states that the murderers escaped, after the shooting, into the Chinese quarter.

French employed Chinese police, who were two hundred yards away at the time of the shooting, gave pursuit but failed to trace the murderers.

The report adds that a writ was issued against General Chow as far back as 1932 by the Central Government, for activities against the fundamental security of the Chinese state.—(Reuter).

NOT GENERAL CHOW

Shanghai, March 7.

Not General Chow Feng-chi, former commander of the 20th Chinese Army, but his collaborator, General Liu Pu-sing, is said to have been shot and killed in the French Concession this afternoon.

Police investigations in this mysterious and sensational affair are being continued.—(Transocean).

"I WANT TO BE ALONE"

Garbo's Identity Made Known In Italy

Rome, March 7.

The report that the famous Swedish film star, Greta Garbo, is staying in Italy is now confirmed.

She lives at the famous villa Cimbrone at Ravello, one of the most beautiful spots of Italy overlooking the Gulf of Salerno.

During the first few days of her stay, Miss Garbo had made long walks in trousers and with dark spectacles to hide her identity but since she has been located by American reporters she lives in complete seclusion at the villa.—(Transocean).

F.A. CUP DRAW

London, March 7.

The semi-finals of the F.A. Cup will be played on March 26. The draw is as follows:—Preston N.E. v. Aston Villa at Sheffield United.

York or Huddersfield v. Sunderland at Blackburn.—(Reuter).

SEVERE STORM OFF COAST OF NORWAY

German Seamen Injured

Oslo, March 7.

The German cruiser Koeln which was reported to have been damaged by a severe storm when proceeding off the west coast of Norway is still at sea, but is expected to reach a Norwegian port on Monday.

Several members of the crew are injured.

Another vessel to experience the full strength of the gale was the Dutch steamer Vredenburg. While the vessel was proceeding up the Drontheim fjord, two members of the crew were swept overboard and drowned.—(Transocean).

The Finance Bureau of the Great Way City Government of Shanghai has opened eleven tax collection offices in areas under its control, says a report to the Hwa Mei Pao. Nine of these offices, according to the report, are located in Kaohsiao, Tungchow, Kaomiao, Hsiao, Chichangshan, Tungchang Road, Tungkadoo, Nammatow and Chow-chiatu, while the other two are functioning at Tushanwei in Nantao and Tsakadool in the western district.

RIVER VESSEL DELAYED FOR HALF A DAY

Finshan Caught In Fog

SUITAI ALSO DELAYED

Forced by heavy fog to lie at anchor for nine hours, the s.s. Kinshan arrived in Hong Kong from Macao yesterday at 12.30 p.m., over half a day behind schedule.

With a full complement of passengers, the Kinshan left Macao at 8 p.m. on Sunday and normally should have reached Hong Kong shortly after 11 p.m.

However soon after leaving Macao the ship ran into fog and by midnight, having had to drop anchor twice up till then, she had proceeded less than half-way on her journey.

About 1 a.m., as navigation was still difficult because of the heavy fog, the vessel anchored for the night. Visibility became clearer about 10 a.m. when the voyage was resumed.

The Kinshan did not return to Macao yesterday but will take up normal running again this morning.

The s.s. Suitai, which left Macao, was also delayed for four hours by fog.

UNITED STATES' CLAIM BEING EXAMINED

London, March 7.

Conversations are being conducted through diplomatic channels between London and Washington, says Reuter's diplomatic correspondent, as regards the United States' formal claim to Canton and Endersbury Islands in the Phoenix group.

The Phoenix Islands were incorporated for administrative purposes of the Gilbert and Ellice Island Colony by an Order-in-Council on March 18, 1937. Questions arising from the American claim are being examined with a view to a speedy conclusion of a friendly agreement.

It is not anticipated in London that there will be any difficulty of a settlement.

It is understood that the Australian and New Zealand Governments are participating in the discussions.—(Reuter).

FIRE RENDERS TWO HUNDRED HOMELESS

Oslo, March 7.

Fifty houses were completely destroyed and 200 people rendered homeless by a devastating fire in the little town of Surnadalsoera in the province of Moere.

Fanned by a strong wind, the conflagration spread rapidly, and it is estimated that property valued at 1,000,000 crowns was destroyed by the flames before they were extinguished by the local fire brigade which had been reinforced by fire squads from neighbouring towns and villages.—(Transocean).

SMALL-POX ON THE WANE

A noticeable decline in small-pox cases is shown in the health returns for the 24 hours ended midnight, Sunday.

Only 20 fresh cases were registered. Of these, 12 were from Victoria and eight from Kowloon. Nine cases of measles, three cases of cerebro-spinal fever and one of diphtheria were also reported.

TEA RECEPTION HELD AT HONG KONG HOTEL

Information Service's Work In Placing China's Cause Before The World

SPECIAL WAR RELIEF ALBUM TO BE PUBLISHED

The keen interest being taken in the work of the China Information Service in placing China's cause before the world was indicated by the large attendance of well-known people at the tea reception held by the Editor-in-Chief (Mr. Percy Chen) and the Advisory Committee of the Service at the Hong Kong Hotel Roof Garden yesterday evening.

A comprehensive display of posters prepared by the Young Artists' Group, now working in Canton, greatly impressed the guests both by its high artistic standard and by its significance of the present trend among the younger generation of Chinese artists.

Welcoming the guests, the Chairman of the Advisory Committee (Mr. U. Sze Wing) mentioned that the China Information Service would publish next month a special China War Relief Album which would be distributed throughout the world.

The deep gratitude of the Chinese National Red Cross Society to the public of Hong Kong for its generous assistance and co-operation was expressed by the Director of the Hong Kong Bureau of the Society (Dr. C. Y. Woo).

PRaise FOR H.K. LADIES

"No praise could be too great for the ladies of Hong Kong, of all races and nationalities, for the great work they have done for the relief of suffering," declared Dr. Woo.

Dr. Woo read a message from the Director of the National Health Administration of the Central Government (Dr. F. C. Yen) in which he pointed out the great need for help for China's millions of suffering people.

The message will be published in full in the China War Relief Album.

CHINESE SEEK CREDITS SECURITY

London Banks Approached

London, March 7.

Reuter understands that the Chinese have approached a group of London banks for twelve or twenty-four months credits security, part in silver, recently shipped to London, at interest of four per cent., the silver to be valued for the purposes of security, at twelve pence an ounce.

It is believed that the Chinese object in seeking credits is largely to guarantee the payment of interest on foreign loans.

It is generally opined that China specially desires to maintain credit abroad.

The News Chronicle says that the Chinese financial reserves are one item in which she can claim supremacy over Japan.—(Reuter).

THE GRAND NATIONAL Favourite Not Defined

London, March 7.

Although it is only eighteen days before the Grand National race, the favourite is still not defined.

Much depends on who will ride last year's winner, Royal Mail. With the death of Lloyd Thomas it was hoped that Evan Williams would take the mount but he is engaged to ride Drimmore Lad for the American, Mr. Paul Mellon, son of the late Mr. Andrew Mellon.

While cables have been crossing the Atlantic during the week-end efforts have been made to obtain whether Drimmore Lad would run, which is doubtful, and also if Mr. Mellon would agree to release Evan Williams. Even if Drimmore Lad does run, Williams has sustained a broken collar bone making him a doubtful rider in the classic.

The fact that Royal Mail fell is likely to jeopardise its Grand National prospects.

Sir Alfred Towle has decided definitely to run the Irish horse, Airgeadlos, which is likely to have a shorter price at the next call-over. Ireland is also fine represented by Royal Daniel, Colleen and Workman, who have first rate chances.

The sole French candidate, Takvor Pacha, will be given a great chance of recording the first French win since Luttur the Third in 1809.—(Reuter).

JUDGMENT FOR PLAINTIFFS

Repaired Ship That Was Sunk In Typhoon

Before the Chief Justice, Sir Atholl MacGregor, in the Supreme Court yesterday, the Kwong Cheung Hing Co. Ltd. brought an action, under Admiralty Jurisdiction, against the owners of the motor schooner Perola, claiming for necessities in the sum of $12,518.20.

The Hon. Mr. L. D'Almada e Castro, Jnr., instructed by Mr. J. T. Prior, of Messrs. Wilkinson and Grist, appeared for plaintiffs, whilst defendants were neither legally represented nor present in Court.

Mr. D'Almada said that the Perola, owned by a Portuguese company in Macao, was sunk in the last big typhoon in Cheung Sha Wan. The plaintiffs, who had business with Messrs. Carmichael and Clark, agents of the boat in Hong Kong, were asked by them to refloat her. Plaintiffs did so and account was rendered some time last year, but so far no payment had been made.

After evidence had been given by Lau Man, manager of the plaintiff firm, His Lordship gave judgment for plaintiffs for claim and costs.

FORGERY GANG SENT TO NEXT SESSIONS

Lower Court proceedings in the case in which four men and one woman are charged with possession of forged Chinese banknotes and paraphernalia for the manufacture thereof were completed before Mr. R. Edwards at Central yesterday after further evidence had been heard.

Defendants are Cheung Sam-mul, 23, married woman, Wong Yau-sang, 24, cook, Ho Pak-ku, 37, unemployed, Wong Hang-kwong, 36, unemployed, and Yui Yan-hong, 26, accountant, and all were committed to the next Criminal Sessions.

Mr. J. Whyatt, Assistant Attorney-General, prosecuted and Mr. D. McCallum was for the fourth defendant.

Yesterday Detective Sub-Inspector J. O'Donovan, who took part in one of the three raids in which the defendants were arrested, gave evidence, and testimony as to the nature of notes found was given by a Chinese bark representative.

Defendants reserved their defence.

TRAFFIC MISHAP SEQUEL

Arising out of a traffic accident in Queen's Road East, during which a bus was alleged to have crashed into a dentist's shop, the hearing of an action instituted against the China Motor Bus Company by Ho Yat-yu, claiming $450 damages, was concluded before the Police Judge, Mr. Justice R. E. Lindell, in the Summary Court yesterday. Judgment was given for plaintiff for $252.80 and costs.

Plaintiff was represented by Mr. M. A. da Silva, while Mr. W. A. Mackinlay appeared for the defendants.

Giving evidence, Traffic Inspector S. C. Saunders testified to having been to the scene of the accident, and Sergeant T. McInnes deposed to having examined the bus and found a fracture in the brake connections.

The defence, Mr. Mackinlay said, would be that the bus crashed in attempting to avoid two boys who were crossing the road. The rear wheel struck a heap of gravel pickings and thus control was lost.

EGYPTIAN EVADES TAXI FARE

Georgios Phillpoulos, 19-year-old Egyptian, was charged before Mr. R. Edwards at Central Magistrate yesterday with entering the Colony without a valid passport and with avoiding payment of a taxi fare of $7.70.

A remand of 24 hours for further enquiries was granted.

FINED FOR BOARDING EMPRESS LINER

ACCOUNTS DONE IN INCOMPETENT MANNER, SAYS MAGISTRATE

Firm Manager Freed

Lee Hon-wing, manager of the Hing Kee firm, of 81, Parkes Street, Kowloon, was discharged by Mr. R. A. D. Forrest at Central Magistrate yesterday on the last of the charges of alleged falsification of accounts and embezzlement of monies brought against him.

The charge was that, on or about December 7, he converted to his own use a cheque for $134.51 which he had received on behalf of his firm from Hung Cheong and Company and that he omitted from the account books material particulars relating to this cheque.

His Worship said he thought the accountancy of the firm was done in a thoroughly incompetent manner, and there could be explanation otherwise than that of criminal intent on the part of defendant for the state of affairs, and such being the case, he must give the benefit of the doubt to the defendant.

Mr. D. B. Evans, who was representing Mr. Ng Kai-ming, partner in the Hing Kee firm, and complainant, said: "If Your Worship says that to make no entry of receipt of money is not evidence of intent to defraud, I am finished, and I see no reason in that case why the case should go on."

His Worship: "The whole explanation of the facts that I have heard is incompetency."

Lee Hon-wing was represented by the Hon. Mr. M. K. Lo, of Messrs. Lo and Lo.

MR. BUTTERS IS MAGISTRATE

Mr. H. R. Butters occupied the Bench in the first court at Central Magistrate yesterday.

Mr. R. A. D. Forrest is shortly leaving for Home and leave and Mr. Butters is taking over the duties of First Magistrate.

Mr. Forrest, will, however, take the cases which he has remanded for hearing before he leaves.

For assaulting a tram conductor who remonstrated with him for occupying as much space as three persons Chan Chuen, 42, unemployed, was fined $5. The incident occurred in King's Road.

Five months' hard labour was imposed on Fung Han when he pleaded guilty to housebreaking at No. 28 Tai Wong Street and stealing a basket containing clothing, which he later pawned.

Accused had two previous convictions. He was ordered to be put under police supervision for one year.

For returning from banishment before the term of ten years had elapsed, Tam Yuen, 27, was sentenced to one year's hard labour when he appeared before Mr. R. Edwards yesterday.

SNATCHER TO BE CANED

Arrested for snatching a handbag from a woman in Shelley Street, Man Keng, 21, appeared before Mr. K.M.A. Barnett at the Kowloon Magistrate yesterday.

Sub-Inspector Armit prosecuted, stated the defendant was arrested after a chase.

A remand for 48 hours was granted, in order to determine whether defendant was fit for caning.

TWO GUNNERS SENTENCED

For Absenting Themselves

Sentence has been promulgated on the two Gunners who absented themselves from their Batteries for some days, one because he did not like the climate and the other because he wanted to be a cook.

They pleaded guilty when they stood trial by a District Court Martial at Stonecutters on March 1.

Gunner F.D. Hamer of the 24th Battery, R.A. who was absent from February 1 to 12, was sentenced to serve 42 days detention, whilst Gunner W.R. Hueston of the 26th Battery, R.A. who was absent from February 5 to 12, was sentenced to serve 35 days detention.

PICKPOCKET IN LIFT CAUGHT

China Emporium Incident

The choice of a lift as a place in which to pick pockets proved disastrous for Leung Nam, 22, unemployed, who appeared before Mr. R. Edwards yesterday.

Acting Sub-Inspector Baysting said Mr. MacGregor of the Chartered Bank was riding in a lift in the China Emporium when he felt someone touch his trousers pocket, in which he had just put $30.

He seized the hand, and found that it was defendant's.

Three months' hard labour was imposed.

EAST AND WEST

Important Problem Of Naval Balances

One frequently hears it remarked these days by knowledgeable people that it would be virtually impossible for Great Britain to go to war with Japan, "even if she wanted to do so," because this would necessitate transferring the great bulk of our sea power to the Far East and leaving our position so weak in the Western Hemisphere as to offer a very tempting opportunity to certain predatory Powers which are only awaiting the chance to start the partition of the British Empire.

And nowhere is this more clearly understood—the knowledgeable ones continue—than in Japan, writes Sir Herbert Russell in the United Services Review.

This, of course, is perfectly true in the same sense as the much older and simpler truism to the effect that you cannot be in two places at the same time. War against Japan on the part of this country would be almost wholly a sea war. Not only would it be an extremely difficult war, but virtually hopeless in any prospect of a successful issue (on the fighting side). There is no case in history in which a major war has been waged to finality by sea power alone.

To take the initiative against Japan would necessitate the employment of a colossal volume of naval strength, and no strategical student can pretend to see just how this could be effectively used. To carry the war right into the home waters of the Island Empire is palpably impossible.

Singapore is nearly 2,000 miles away and therefore much too far to contemplate as an operational base. Hong Kong might serve this purpose if we were able to hold it—rather a big "if" in view of the certainty that it would be subject to incessant and very heavy attacks.

A PUZZLING POSITION

What sort of "operations" are we to envisage against Japanese sea power in its own waters? Were it possible to close the communications with the Asiatic Continent, the result would prove very serious for Japan. But any idea of blockading Japan in the face of such a great Navy as she possesses may be ruled out even before it is suggested at all.

In fact, the more one considers the possibility of waging direct war against Japan the more difficult does it become to see what form it could conceivably take.

"STATE OF WAR"

A "state of war" nowadays might produce very disastrous results without much grand-scale fighting at all. In the last resort it is economic stress at home rather than the military situation which brings war to an end. The Japanese know this well enough. They might have done a great deal more against the Russians after Tsushima and Mukden, but they had spent all their money.

Their young credit was frail and so they were quite prepared to take what they could get rather than what they might ultimately have got had the economic position of Japan been stronger.

In the unfortunate event of a "straight" war between Great Britain and Japan I do not believe that it would be our policy to hurry the bulk of our sea power out to the Far East and thereby reduce our naval strength in European waters to a dangerously low ebb. I do not believe this because I cannot see how we could harbour, or employ in initiative operations, such a clutter of squadrons and flotillas.

No doubt a great aggregate of British national interests in the Far East would have to go by default, but this would probably be so in any case. We should need a naval strength equal to setting limits to Japanese activity, and although it would be quite out of the question to count upon it, yet more likely we should find no particular disposition to carry the just of conquest beyond those limits. No Japanese naval force must pass Singapore nor come

NAVAL BASE AT BERMUDA

The appointment of a new Captain-in-Charge (Capt. H. B. Maltby) to the Dockyard and naval establishments at Bermuda serves to draw attention to what may be regarded as the most placid of all our naval bases in these perturbed days, says the United Services Review.

We hear a great deal as to whether we could hold Gibraltar, Malta, Hong Kong, and even Singapore against a strong and determined enemy, but we never hear a similar question asked in connection with Bermuda, not because the place could hope to offer a very strong resistance, but because nobody is likely to attack it.

That the United States naval authorities would like to possess the little bunch of islands is understandable enough, but apparently they are now well satisfied to do the next best thing and to make considerable use of the spot. Americans generally seem to be very much more interested in the attractions of Bermuda as a holiday resort than in its "strategical potentialities" as a naval base.

The National Government, in a mandate issued on February 18, posthumously promoted Brigade-Commanders Hsia Kuo-chang, Peng Han-hsiang and Tsing Ling, who "fell in action" recently, to Lieutenant-Generals, says a dispatch to Sin Wen Pao. The Military Affairs Commission was also ordered to grant suitable pensions to the families of the three men, says the report.

within landing distance of Australia. Either attempt means getting a long way from home, automatically weakening the power of aggression and conversely strengthening that of defence.

I do not need to be told that this is rather a queer doctrine of war which I am suggesting. But then war between two great sea Powers situated at the opposite ends of the earth would be bound to offer queer problems in any case. If other nations took a hand in the business different conditions would be created.

JAPANESE GOVERNMENT WANTS TO "CHASTISE" NAUGHTY POLITICIANS

Tokyo, March 7.
The Cabinet at a special session today decided to avoid unnecessary irritations and to make an effort, if possible, to "bridge the gap" between the Government and the political parties.

A feature of the meeting was the strong stand taken by Mr. Suehiko Shiono, Minister of Justice, and Admiral Suetsugu, Home Minister, against the attitude of the political parties.

If the political parties prove intransigent, the Government will take "positive action," the Cabinet decided.

Agreement was further reached to redouble efforts to secure passage of important Government bills which are said to be making little progress in the Lower House. —(Reuter).

URGENT TASK

Tokyo, March 7.
Enactment of the National Mobilisation Bill is necessary in order to prepare for the urgent task of delivering the coup de grace in China, Mr. Koki Hirota, Japanese Foreign Minister, told the Committee of the Lower House yesterday.

The prevailing international situation is not particularly strained, Mr. Hirota said, but international relations are so delicate that "nobody can tell what developments may take place."

Therefore, it is necessary to enact the measure by way of preparation for any eventuality.

POPULAR EFFORTS

The statement followed an interpellation by Mr. Ichiro Kono, member of the Seiyukai Party.

Mr. Kono suggested that the Government leave the Mobilisation Bill to "voluntary and popular efforts."

Premier Konoye replied that modern warfare necessitated organized preparations both human and material.

Turning to Mr. Hirota, Mr. Kono recalled the Foreign Minister's recent remark that an improvement had taken place in Japan's relations with the Soviet and Britain, and demanded a reason for submitting a bill for national mobilisations under such improved circumstances.

To this Mr. Hirota replied that relations with foreign countries had been good, but there was no foreseeing how the international situation would develop in the future.

He added that China had made good preparations for long-term hostilities. —(Reuter).

MA LIANG AND MA LIANG

Shanghai, March 7.
The announcement that 99-year-old Ma Liang has been installed as Governor of Shanghai has been refuted.

This Ma Liang is the well-known scholar and author, while the Ma Liang actually installed is the former garrison commander at Tsinan, who is 62 years of age.

Their names, however, are exactly the same. —(Reuter).

AMERICAN WOMAN MOLESTED

U.S. Consul Protests To Japanese

Shanghai, March 7.
The American Consul-General, Mr. Gauss, lodged a sharply worded protest yesterday with the Japanese Consul-General in the matter of alleged molestation of an American woman teacher by a Japanese inspector. —(Transocean).

TOUCHED HER COLLAR

Shanghai, March 7.
Investigating the recent alleged molestation of an American woman, Miss Grace Brady, by a Japanese sentry, a Japanese spokesman stated that enquiries revealed that Miss Brady was clad in a thick overcoat which appeared unusual to the sentry, who tried to stop the lady for questioning.

Miss Brady tried to evade the sentry by walking quickly away, whereupon the soldier detained her by "touching the collar of her coat." —(Reuter).

COLONEL BECK IN ROME

Efforts To Increase Italo-Polish Trade

Rome, March 7.
Colonel Josef Beck, Polish Foreign Minister, arrived in Rome yesterday evening and was given a warm welcome at the station by prominent Italian statesmen and politicians, including Count Ciano, Italian Foreign Minister, Achille Starace, secretary of the Fascist Party, and Count Colonna, Mayor of Rome.

Colonel Beck will be received in audience by King Victor Emmanuel prior to beginning conversations with Signor Mussolini and Count Ciano. —(Transocean).

NO TREATY

Rome, March 7.
According to Signor Gayda, writing in the Voce d'Italia, all elements as regards political and economic collaboration between Italy and Poland will be discussed, but no agreement or treaty will be signed while Poland will not adhere to the Anti-Comintern Pact.

It is expected that efforts will be made to increase mutual trade. Colonel Beck will be in Rome for three days. —(Reuter).

THE SHANGHAI CENSORSHIP

Foreign Powers May Establish Own Post Offices

Shanghai, March 7.
The British and United States Consular authorities, in their protest to the Japanese authorities against the imposition of a censorship on mail matter, insist that the action constitutes a violation of foreign rights.

Competent quarters here point out that, according to the Washington Postal Treaty, foreign powers have the right to establish their own national post offices in China in the event of unsatisfactory operation of the Chinese postal system.

It is quite likely that foreign powers will claim the right to re-establish their own post offices if a censorship is imposed.

Although the Japanese censors have actually been installed in the Post Office Building, censorship has not yet been put officially into operation. —(Transocean).

New Director of the National Health Administration arrived here from Hankow to inspect health work in Hunan Province. —(Central News).

Wreckage Of Mail Plane Discovered

LOST WITH THICK PAYROLL WAD ON BOARD

Manila, Mar. 7.
What are believed to be bits of wreckage of the mail plane piloted by Burton Hall, and belonging to the Philippine Aerial Taxi Company, which disappeared last Sunday week, have been discovered by a fisherman in Lamon Bay.

The plane disappeared while making a flight from Manila to Paracel, 120 miles east of Manila. It was carrying a $30,000 mine payroll.

Bits of the wreckage recovered have been identified by an officer of the Philippine Army as those "probably belonging to the plane" in which Burton Hall disappeared.

The wreckage was found near the spot where another fisherman saw a plane crash into the sea and explode and then sink.

Twenty-six planes, including 19 United States Army machines, have already taken part in the search for the missing plane. —(Reuter).

JAPAN'S STAND UNCHANGED

New Minister In Shanghai

Shanghai, March 7.
Japan's attitude to China is firm and unchanged, according to Mr. Natsuyuki Tani, newly-appointed Japanese Minister-at-large, on arrival in Shanghai from Japan.

The diplomat added that the stand of the Tokyo authorities was very frequently outlined by the Premier and no modifications had been introduced recently.

Questioned regarding the prospects of the organisation, of the proposed Central China Industrial and Development Company, Mr. Tani declared the 100,000,000 yen capital was needed for it. This could easily be raised if real efforts were made.

Mr. Tani is occupying the official residence of the Japanese Ambassador in Shanghai. —(Reuter).

SONJA HENIE SETS NEW VOGUE

Willow Beauty Out Of Date

The advent of Sonja Henie is noticeably changing the shape of future Hollywood stars. The lovely star of "Thin Ice," which is showing at the King's Theatre today, has already created a new vogue in physical beauty as opposed to the elongated, willowy type of former years. Miss Henie is healthy, wholesome and bubbling with enthusiasm and energy. She has the charm of the athlete, plus the grace and chic vivacity of a sophisticate. Radiating health, happiness and fresh young beauty, to which are added intelligence and distinctive talent, the screen advent of the Olympic skating champion marks a new beauty criterion for Hollywood stars.

YOU'RE A SWEETHEART

Modern Musical Comedy

Until you've seen "You're a Sweetheart," which is showing at the Queen's Theatre today, you'll have to admit you've never before seen a real modern screen musical comedy. It's distinctly different. It's ultra smart. It's clever. It's uproariously funny. It has plenty of plot. You don't have to believe it. The plot makes fun of itself. It is packed with diversified specialties: tuneful, memorable songs; trig, trim and intriguing dances. And yet this abundance of variety is packed so neatly, so perfectly into its length that you will wonder how it was possible to show it all in one evening. The reason, no doubt, is the cast. The star, Alice Faye, delivers what is the finest picture of her career in "You're a Sweetheart." Second is George Murphy. George is smoothness personified, in his acting, dancing and singing. "You're a Sweetheart" establishes a smart atmosphere and a pulse-quickening pace from the very opening and keeps it mounting steadily in tempo to the very finish, a trick hitherto never successfully completed in screen musical offerings.

THIN ICE

A gay and magnificent musical that skims in shimmering delight along the silvery Alpine slopes, snow-drenched with dazzling spectacle and exciting beauty, heart-warming with riotous fun and young romance, brings Sonja Henie and Tyrone Power together, as you wanted them to be, thrilling, as you knew they'd be, in the Twentieth Century-Fox picture, "Thin Ice," which is showing at the King's Theatre. Topping all her triumphs of "One in a Million," Miss Henie is more radiantly exciting than ever as she displays new beauty, new dancing and new breath-taking thrills. A delightful romance of mistaken identity affording many hilariously funny situations, "Thin Ice" concerns the romance of a beautiful skating star who falls in love with a man she believes to be a reporter, but who, in reality, is a Prince.

FAMOUS ACTORS PAY TRIBUTE TO IRVING

Warm Welcome For Centenary Plan

A number of well-known actors and theatre managers have expressed their enthusiastic interest in the Henry Irving Centenary Performance, which is to be organised by the Daily Telegraph and Morning Post, to take place at the Lyceum Theatre in the spring.

Here are some of the tributes received since the announcement: "Sir Frank Benson, who began his stage career with Henry Irving at the Lyceum Theatre, in 1882, playing the part of 'Paris'." "The very thought of this matinee fills me with the greatest enthusiasm, for I think that it will help to revive the spirit of self-sacrifice and devotion which epitomised the era of Irving and Ellen Terry."

"The influence of Irving is still being felt as it was felt in my young days. I often think that if it had not been for that grand man of the theatre there would be no 'Old Bensonians' today."

"The matinee has my blessing and the blessing of all the famous actors who have passed through my hands."

Walter Payne, President of the Society of West End Managers:

"It is a great tribute to the British stage that The Daily Telegraph and Morning Post should be organising the Irving Centenary Matinee, and a timely reminder that no matter what other roots may be torn up in the course of years, those of the British drama will ever remain in a great tradition."

MOST SUITABLE THEATRE

Angus MacLeod, Director of Daniel Mayer Co. Ltd.

"I am delighted that the centenary is not to be overlooked by the profession. No more suitable theatre could be chosen than the Lyceum."

"I feel that under the auspices of The Daily Telegraph and Morning Post the best possible cast will be chosen. The form of entertainment in the hands of Edward Knoblock should ensure its success."

John Gielgud: "I am delighted to know that The Daily Telegraph and Morning Post is to organise the commemoration matinee in honour of the centenary of Sir Henry Irving. I hope that the public, as well as the actors and actresses, will rise to this memorable occasion."

Gerald Lawrence, who was Irving's last juvenile leading man and was playing with him when he died:

"The proposed matinee has caused great interest among the members of the Green Room Club, for they revere the memory of Irving. He was an original member of the club, which was formed in 1877. The members are looking forward to giving their best, at this matinee."

"He said to me three nights before he died. It's a sad thing, just as we are beginning to know a little about this work of ours. It is time to leave it. These words proved tragically prophetic but did, I feel, show the spirit of the most wonderful 'chief' the stage has ever had, a 'chief' we loved."

"We did not have to learn to love him. It was a spontaneous affection for a man who commanded the greatest respect from all ranks of life. I remember, on one occasion, he entered a room which was filled with Cabinet Ministers and other important personages. There was an immediate silence—the great man had arrived."

LORD DE VILLIERS A BARRISTER

Lord de Villiers, of Wynberg House, Wynberg, South Africa, was called to the Bar in the Inner Temple on call night of Hilary term in the four Inns of Court. His grandfather, the first Lord de Villiers, was Chief Justice of the Union of South Africa from 1910 till his death in 1914. Previously he had been Chief Justice of Cape Colony. Two women were in the call list—Miss Daisy Colnett Spickett, of West House, Pontypriid, Glam., daughter of Mr. J. E. Spickett, Registrar of Pontypriid County Court, and Miss Claudine Berry, of Elmridge, Grange-road, Cambridge, second daughter of Arthur John Berry, Fellow and Lecturer of Downing College, Cambridge.

HURRICANE ON THE SCREEN

Goldwyn's New Success

Samuel Goldwyn has pulled it off again. His new film, "The Hurricane," may not be great art, but, in the idiom of the ring, the punch it packs is terrific, writes the Daily Telegraph film correspondent.

The first impact of the storm has one dazed and groggy. At the end of twenty minutes frenzied assault on eye and ear, the audience is out for the count.

"The Hurricane" is based on a South Seas tale by Nordhoff and Hall, and contains many of the ingredients—idyllic scenery, happy natives, tyrannical oppression and brutal flogging mixed so effectively in their "Mutiny on the Bounty."

But it is the storm that counts. You see tall palms, to which natives cling like ants, torn up by the roots, houses whirling through the air, boats tossed and crushed like eggshells.

Half the population of the tiny island, encouraged by the priest, take refuge in the stone church. Then this, too, is overwhelmed. When the gigantic roaring of sea and wind subsides, to be followed by a strange silence, the island is left bare of life and vegetation except for the party sheltering in a lifeboat lashed to a stump.

Technically the storm sequence is as brilliant in its way as the chariot race in "Ben Hur." I am not surprised that it cost £50,000 of the £300,000 spent on the picture.

Jon Hall, a newcomer, as athletic as Johnny Weissmuller and as handsome as a Greek god, plays the hero, and Dorothy Lamour his wife. Other important roles are filled by Raymond Massey, C. Aubrey Smith, Mary Astor and Thomas Mitchell.

THE KING AND THE R.A.F.

DAY OF WAR-TIME
MEMORIES

Cranwell Revisited

The King revived memories of 20 years ago in the course of a visit of three hours' duration which he paid to the Cadet College and the Electrical and Wireless School of the R.A.F. at Cranwell recently, states the aeronautical correspondent of the Times. In 1918, as a young officer in the air service, he was in charge of a section of boys in training; this time he came as Marshal of the Royal Air Force to inspect a set of establishments, vastly expanded and settled for a large part in permanent buildings where formerly there were only huts.

As the King said to Flight Lieutenant H. J. Adkins, who served with him here in 1917-18, the place has changed a great deal in 20 years, yet his own quarters have been preserved unchanged while all the neighbouring quarters have been swept away by reorganizations and rebuilding. The little brick building, with its suite of six rooms, which the King as Prince shared with Sir Louis Greig, was there for the King's inspection, much as it was for the young Prince's occupation more than 20 years ago. The old mess which the officers used in those days looked much like its old self, though it has since been superceded; and the gymnasium and some of the workshops have changed but little.

CHANGED FACES

Such reminders of old days were less changed indeed than the faces that were presented again after so long a lapse to the King. Wing Commander J. R. Cassidy, an Australian who interrupted his Rhodes scholarship at Oxford to train as an apprentice here in 1918 and is now chief instructor of the school;
Flight Lieutenant Adkins, who, as engineer officer initiated the King into some of the mysteries he mastered; Flight Sergeant W. Harris, who was a boy mechanic in the King's squadron; ex-Warrant officer J. Leyland, who was one of six who joined the young Prince in firing the first shots in the miniature rifle range; and ex-Flight Sergeant
C. A. Marshall, who reminded the King of an earlier meeting, all bore the mark of the passing years to serve as a date stamp to the memories they evoked.

When the guard and the training squadrons had been inspected, the King began his long tour of the station, passing sometimes by car, sometimes on foot between lines of apprentices strung out at open interval to mark most of the route to workshops, garrison church, bar rack blocks hangars, institutes, and messes. At last his Majesty came to the noble building of the Cadet College, in use since 1933.

There he took luncheon with the 144 cadets, sitting at top table from which three other tables sprang at right angles and honouring with his approval the most successful offspring of the Cranwell which he knew in earlier days. The cadets were on parade in front of the College building when the King drove away afterwards to see the hospital.

BOYS' FAREWELL

The King's subsequent departure brought all the apprentices and airmen on the tarmac. One would have guessed that there were thousands of them in the two long, deep ranks which completely enclosed the little twin-engined aeroplane while his Majesty embarked; one would have thought the same from the volume of the cheers which sped the King.
Indeed the total strength today is 1,300 airmen, 1,200 apprentices, and 700 boy entrants. They were all assembled to shout their farewell and so give vocal proof as they had given physical proof in the morning of the condition which a fine situation and the extra rations (one and a half times that of the ordinary airmen) may produce in growing boys, no matter how hard they may work.

Before he embarked the King spoke to the senior officers of the pleasure the visit had given him.
Then, while the cheers continued and caps were waved, the Envoy was taken off by Wing Commander E. H. Fielden, Captain of the King's Flight; and until it was turned into wind to take off the King, unattended in the saloon, was to be seen acknowledging the good wishes of the uniformed crowds. Quickly the little aeroplane climbed; and was gone on its way back to Bircham Newton for the King's return from the scene of War-time memories home to Sandringham.

KADOORIES GIVE SYNAGOGUE TO OPORTO

Maranos' Dream Come True

A new Jewish synagogue was recently inaugurated in Oporto, Portugal, as the result of the munificence of the Kadoorie family of Shanghai.

The inauguration took place on January 15 and was accompanied by appropriate ceremonies of the Jewish rite. Among the many distinguished persons present at the inauguration were the British Consul, the Protestant pastor and many representatives of the Jewish community of Lisbon.

The splendid building was donated by Messrs. Lawrence and Horace Kadoorie in honour of their father, Sir Elly Kadoorie K.B.E., and in memory of their mother, the late Mrs. Laura Kadoorie.

It had long been the cherished desire of the Maranos of Oporto to possess a temple of worship of their own, but lack of funds had hitherto prevented them from carrying out their project. Through the efforts of the Anglo-Jewish Association and the Portuguese Marano Committee of London, the scheme was brought to the notice of the Kadoorie brothers and received their generous support.

The leader of the movement in Oporto is Captain Barros Basto, an officer of the Portuguese Army, who served with distinction in the Great War.

BRITAIN'S NEW STRENGTH

Prime Minister On Rearmament

INFLUENCE IN EUROPE

BY AIR MAIL

The Prime Minister, speaking in Birmingham on February 19 at a dance held in his constituency, referred to the Government's policy of peace, states The Times.

First of all that policy, he said, was to maintain peace. Peace was the greatest interest that all of us could have, and when he said "maintain peace" he did not mean merely "sit still and hope that peace will be preserved."

"These are very troublous times," said Mr. Chamberlain. "There are at present two bitter conflicts being waged in the world—one in Europe and one in the Far East. Fortunately, we ourselves are outside both these conflicts. We want to see that these conflicts do not spread and we ourselves do not become involved in them. It is our duty to take every opportunity which presents itself to us to take active and positive steps to remove what would be the cause of another war."

ARMAMENT PROGRESS

"The second point is to make Britain so strong that nobody will dare to attack her, and to ensure that when Britain talks her voice is listened to. We have a tremendous task in front of us in rearming this country with modern weapons, and in building up the defences which we had—in the hope of setting an example to others—allowed to fall too low. I am glad to tell you we are making wonderful progress with our rearming, and every day we are constructing weapons and equipment which are making us stronger and stronger as every week goes by. Already we can say that as a result of this new strength Britain is listened to in councils of Europe where she was not until a few years ago."

The third point of our policy was prosperity which was to stimulate and encourage our trade, our industry, and our agriculture. There, he thought, we could claim on behalf of this Government that we had been successful. If they looked around the world, where could they find any country which had risen so rapidly and so completely out of the depression which the Government found when it came into office? To-day our factories were busy in every part of the country.

SPECIAL AREAS

For a long time we had to struggle with the problem of what is called the Special Areas, the most recalcitrant and difficult part of the whole problem. I think we can say at least that even in the Special Areas improvement has at last come. To those peoples hope has been given; new industries have been started; Old Industries have been extended. I can say that those people no longer feel they are forgotten or neglected. They are looking forward to return, if not to complete prosperity, at any rate, to the same level of employment and progress that the rest of the country is enjoying.

The last point of the Government's programme, he added, was the social policy, which had been described as health, and, indeed, health was the most important part of it. At a time when we were facing this tremendous expenditure upon necessary armaments there was not as much money to spend on other things as there would be were the Government not obliged to spend so much on armaments, but that did not mean that the conditions of the people could not be improved. There was a great field before us which did not mean any major addition to our great expenditure, and in the Government's housing policy, in its amendments to the Insurance Acts, in the great measure of penal reform, there was a great field of new measures which should do much to improve the health and happiness of the people.

ANNIVERSARY OF NEW LIFE MOVEMENT

GENERALISSIMO'S BROADCAST

"As long as we breathe our last breath, we must revenge our national humiliations and wipe away our national disgrace."

Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek thus exhorted the Chinese people in a broadcast from Hankow recently in connection with the fourth anniversary of the New Life Movement of which he is the founder.

The Generalissimo reiterated his confidence in China's ability to emerge on the long end of the present Sino-Japanese struggle. A history of more than 4,000 years, a well-developed culture, a vast territory, a large population, and an abundance of natural resources these are factors which ensure China of an ultimate victory.

"If we unite in one purpose, exert every ounce of our energies, fear no sacrifice and avoid no hardship, we can deal a blow to the enemy at any time and in any place," the Generalissimo said.

Reviewing the war of aggression waged by the enemy against China during the past six months or so, the Generalissimo said that although he has occupied the capitals of Kopei, Chahar, Suiyuan, Shansi, Shantung, Kiangsu and Chekiang, the fact remains that he has only been able to control a few scores of districts, one-seventh of the total territory of these seven provinces.

As a matter of fact, General Chiang believes that the enemy's military adventure in China has fundamentally failed. For having mobilized over one million soldiers and expended several billions yen for military expenditures, the enemy's influence is confined to the cities and towns, and his troops dare not go beyond the lines of communication.

"The further the enemy penetrates into the Chinese hinterland in the future, the more difficulties he will be confronted with. In other words, the greater will be our chances for revenge," he said.

To the Chinese people now living in Japanese-occupied districts, the Generalissimo enjoined them to manifest an unbending spirit; to the Chinese people at the rear, he enjoined them to give themselves entirely to the welfare of the nation; and to the people as a whole, he enjoined them to cherish a love for one another, to deal with one another in frankness and sincerity and to regulate their daily lives.

He further stressed the importance of developing courteousness, chivalry, honesty, and the spirit of shame—the four main principles of the New Life Movement—for the vengeance of the country. —(Central.)

GERMANY AND CHINA

By recognising the Japanese plunder of Manchuria from China, Germany has everything to lose and nothing to gain. That is the bewildering part of Fuehrer Hitler's declaration of such intention. The depth of its folly can only be ascribed to the workings of a mad or imbecile brain. The German dictator is anything but an imbecile, but that at least he is a communist-mad is quite patent.

What were the facts leading up to this first class Hitlerite blunder? The Reich army chiefs and younger officers growing weary and not a little nervous of the foreign policy which the Anti-Comintern Pact made necessary and openly contemptuous of Italy, demanded closer relationship with Britain. They also saw better prospects in a policy of friendship with China rather than with Japan. Hitler disagreed, "sacked" the army leaders and took upon himself the supreme command of all the fighting forces of the Reich, thus acquiring, at one stroke, more power than was ever possessed by Kaiser Wilhelm II. Followed further cementing of the ties with Japan and Italy and the Manchukuo declaration.

Beyond the fear of communism what have Germany, Italy and Japan in common? None at all. On what matters are they rivals? All three are strong contenders in the frantic search for markets for cheap manufactured goods, and who offers them the best such market but China? Germany has recently been building up a steadily rising trade with China. As a matter of fact, the German business man in China is acknowledged to be an infinitely greater success in his ability to mix with the Chinese than his British, French or Italian counterparts. This has had splendid results, and, with nursing, German trade in China has vast possibilities as any German in this country will agree. The Chinese are, perhaps more fond of Germans than the nationals of any other European country, a fact which is well-known to Dr. Trautmann. German Ambassador in China, who is said to be suffering from "writer's cramp" trying to convince the Wilhelmstrasse of the real position in China. Dr. Trautmann knows better than Hitler that a victorious China means a bright future for German trade in China, whereas a defeated China means the end of such trade, for it is not the Japanese way of giving away what they can keep for themselves. Altruism has never been one of Japan's strong qualities and is unlikely to be one in the future.

Is it possible that Hitler will fritter away such a great chance? Recognition of Manchukuo will have the immediate effect of a

Matsui Meets Konoye

MAKES IMPORTANT SUGGESTIONS

Tokyo, March 7. Important suggestions regarding Japanese policy in China were advanced by General Iwane Matsui, until recently Japanese Commander-in-Chief in Central China, in the course of an interview with Premier Konoye, states the metropolitan press today.

It is also reported that Matsui informed the Premier of the latest developments in Shanghai.

MANCHUKUO'S ROME ENVOY IN JAPAN

Shanghai, March 7. Hsu Chao-ching, Manchukuo's first Minister to Rome, arrived in Japan today en route to his new post.

Following a brief visit to Tokyo, the official will leave Kobe for Italy by the Terukuni Maru on March 18.—(Reuter).

1940 OLYMPICS WILL BE HELD IN TOKYO

If China Incident Terminates

Tokyo, March 7. The International Olympics and World Fair for 1940 again became parliamentary issues before the House of Representatives committee for national mobilisation.

Since the situation is so grave, that it is necessary to enact national mobilisation, said Mr. Ichiro Kono, member of the Seiyukai Party, to General Sugiyama, Minister for War, the Government should issue a statement declaring the suspension of holding the International Olympics instead of prohibiting military officers from participating in equestrian events at the Olympics.

The 1940 Olympics, General Sugiyama replied, would be held if the China incident terminates. Japan has enough resources left, said Admiral Suetsugu, Home Minister, to hold the International Olympics and World Fair. However, these events should be dropped if the situation becomes more tense.—(Reuter).

complete boycott of Germany in China, and the vast amount of spade work done by the indefatigable German business firms over a period of many years will vanish into thin air in a day. Already a great wave of anti-German feeling is beginning to surge up, and Chinese political circles are expressing pained astonishment at what they regard as an act of open hostility to China at a time when she is so desperately in need of friends—and China will not easily forget her friends when this great upheaval is concluded.

Germany's only excuse for recognition of Manchukuo is the Anti-Comintern Pact, but in so far as China is concerned, Germans on the spot are fully aware of the hollowness of the alleged pro-communist tendencies of the Central Government. If the Central Government has a working arrangement with the Chinese communist leaders as well as with Moscow, that has been induced solely by Japanese aggression.

In any event, communism is not a movement that can be killed by force, as fascism is trying to do, just as much as socialism or fascism cannot be. The application of force, history proves, generally has the opposite effect. Fascism arose as a counter-blast to communism. Both are idealistic doctrines professing to strive for the same objects, the betterment of the state and the people, but their methods of procedure are diametrically opposed. If the two forces were allowed to work out their own destiny, placing their faith on the people, the human race will, of its own volition, make its choice. That is why fascism weakens its position by the attempted application of force, in furtherance of which it has formed a tripartite pact. Thus, it would appear that in his effort to kill communism in the world, Hitler is only making certain of its survival and growth and the stifling of trade and prosperity of his own country and people.

SPANISH BOMB KILLS BRITISH NAVAL RATING

Insurgents Rescued From Sunk Warship

London, March 6. H.M.S. Kempenfelt and H.M.S. Boreas rescued many survivors from the torpedoed insurgent cruiser, Baleares.

A member of the crew of the Boreas was fatally wounded by a splinter from a bomb dropped by aircraft attacking other insurgent ships to which survivors were being transferred.

Three other members of the Boreas crew were slightly wounded. The bomb exploded in the water close by but the British ships were not hit.—(Reuter).

WAS IT CANARIAS?

Barcelona, March 7. It is now believed that the sunk insurgent cruiser is the Canarias, as originally reported.

The Ministry of Defence states that the vessel was probably the Canarias, as the commander of the Republican fleet reported that the vessel was the second ship in the Nationalist formation. It is likely that the Baleares, the flag-ship, would have occupied first place.

Evidence is also based on aerial photographs shown to the foreign press by the Minister of Defence, Senor Prieto. Nevertheless, the identity of the ship is not yet definitely confirmed.

The difficulty is due to the fact that the Canarias and the Baleares are sister ships.

At Gibraltar, Republican broadcast state that the Canarias was torpedoed by the destroyer Lepanto, which slipped out of the harbour under cover of darkness when the Canarias, Baleares and the Almirante Cervera approached to bombard Cartagena early in the morning.—(Reuter).

ADMIRALTY'S ANNOUNCEMENT

London, March 7. The Admiralty announces that the destroyers Blanche and Brilliant were attacked yesterday "in the vicinity of a battle between Republican and Nationalist warships" off the Spanish coast by unidentified warplanes.

Several bombs were dropped none of which hit either ship, and no damage was done.—(Reuter Bulletin).

RUSHED TO HOSPITAL

Gibraltar, March 7. H.M.S. Boreas has arrived, with the body of Long, at the dockyard. The body was removed to the mortuary. The three injured ratings were rushed to the military hospital.—(Reuter).

TREMENDOUS JAPANESE LOSS

Loyang, March 7. Offering stiff resistance to the Japanese southward push from Linfen, Chinese troops at Kuwo, 80 kilometers to the south, have exacted a tremendous toll of 15,000 killed and wounded from the invading forces during the past few days.

The Chinese forces displayed sheer doggedness of resistance to keep the Japanese mechanical superiority at bay, and suffered corresponding losses in inflicting the large casualties on the invaders.

Another Japanese column operating in south Shansi, pushing on from Linfen towards Yuncheng and Pinglo, is now locked in a fierce struggle with the Chinese forces at these two places.

The recapture by Chinese forces of Sinsiang, Wahsien and Chunhsien in north Honan, have seriously jeopardised the westward push of the Japanese combined forces from east Shanai and along the Pinghan line.

To mitigate the danger of their drawn out line from being cut, a portion of the Japanese forces have been withdrawn from their westward advance.

FRESH ATTEMPT

The Japanese garrison at Wenhsien on the northern bank of the Yellow River, is being strengthened with 300 infantry troops, 40 tanks and scores of field pieces.

At Chaohsienchen, in the vicinity of Wenhsien, 5,000 Japanese troops are concentrated with mobile equipment ready for a fresh attempt to cross the Yellow River.—(Central News).

GERMANY WINS RUGGER

Stuttgart, March 7. The international rugby football match between Germany and Italy, played here yesterday, resulted in a win for the former by 10-nil.—(Transocean).

TEA RECEPTION

GENERAL WU TE-CHEN'S MESSAGE

Millions Are In Need Of Immediate Relief

"The Chinese people, who are now facing the gravest crisis in the history of their country, find added strength in the struggle for the preservation of China's territorial integrity through the unstinting sympathy and support of the peace-loving people of friendly nations," declared General Wu Te-chen, Governor of Kwangtung, in a message read by Mr. Percy Chen.

"The ranks of the Chinese civilian population, who are suffering untold hardships as a result of Japan's unrestrained aggression, are increasing by leaps and bounds, and millions of innocent men, women and children in the war areas as well as the cities throughout China, which are subject to aerial bombardment, are rendered destitute and need immediate relief," continued General Wu Te-chen's message.

General Wu Te-chen

"The needs of these unfortunate refugees are great. Through the China War Relief Album I wish to convey the gratitude of the people of Kwangtung to their overseas brethren and foreign sympathisers for the generous help and contributions given to War Relief Work in China."

"Explaining why it had been decided to publish the Album, Mr. Chen said that it had been felt that the people in other countries should be told more about the war relief work now being carried out in China."

"This publication is not to make heroes of doctors or stretcher-bearers but to tell those who have given their time, money and supplies that these are being well utilised and are going direct to the sufferers in China," said Mr. Chen.

TEN THOUSAND COPIES

Ten thousand copies are to be printed, he said, and the committee was relying on the Album's value as an advertising medium to defray the expenses. Already a heartening response had been received from Chinese and foreign advertisers.

CHINESE REFUGEES

Planned Removal From War-Torn Areas

Hankow, March 7. The Central Government is contemplating a large-scale removal of Chinese refugees from war-torn areas to less densely populated sections of the interior. Since the outbreak of hostilities, residents of the coastal provinces have been withdrawing from their homes to the upper reaches of the Yangtze River. Their number have increased to such a large figure that a congested situation arises.

The Central Government reportedly has appropriated $800,000 to finance the immigration. Large numbers of refugees are to be moved to uncultivated parts of Shensi, Kansu, Hunan and Kwangsi where they can resume farming. To provide transportation, 300 vessels have been prepared at various points along the Yangtze.—(International).

CHINESE REPULSE JAPANESE

Tsingyang, Anhwei, Mar. 7. A Japanese attack on Shihkwai-chen and Hengshanchiao, south-west of Wuhu, was repulsed today by Chinese troops defending the two districts.

The Japanese offensive was preceded by a heavy barrage laid by the Nipponese artillery at Peimashan and Sanshan.—(Central News).

Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Ginsbourg, Barrister-at-Law, of Shanghai announce the engagement of their only daughter Anna to Mr. Jacob N. Frenkel, C.E. of Hong Kong.

Responding on behalf of the guests, Sir Shou-son Chow said that they were there to do something charitable and for humanity, so as to alleviate the suffering of millions of poor people in the war zones.

He said he strongly approved of the Album and thanked Mr. Chen for the valuable work he was doing.

He wished that the issue of 10,000 copies could be increased to 10 million copies and sent throughout the world.

The reception concluded with the screening of four talking pictures through the courtesy of the Film Depot, Marina House. The pictures included the "News Parade of the Year," "War in China," a novelty "See," and a comic cartoon "Toy Time."

ARMED ARAB GANG SOUGHT

Jerusalem, March 7.

British troops and police are continuing the round-up of an armed Arab gang, in the west Jinn district, which on Friday attacked a British outpost killing a British soldier and slightly injuring a British officer. The General Officer Commanding the troops in Palestine who proceeded to the scene, is at present directing operations. In Nazareth district yesterday, four armed Arabs were arrested.—(Reuter).

TAKING THE DRAGON INTO THE AIR AGAIN

Chinese Airmen Fly On To Victory

Dog fight over Shanghai! We watched them as the Chinese bombers dived from the clouds over the Japanese air-field in Kiangwan. They looked slow. They were slow. And it was sheer determination that sped them to their objectives and then sheer courage to fight their way back again to their base.

Our pursuit planes—we watched them. Covering the bombers, intercepting the enemy planes, shooting down and being shot down. And while we mourned our dead we praised the glory they had won for themselves by TAKING THE DRAGON INTO THE AIR AGAIN.

(Illustration by T. Ting.)

Not enough planes! More planes! Sabotage! Watchfulness! Battle of Tazang! Doomed Battalion! then withdrawal and bloody sacrifice. The wings of the dragon, newly sprouted, could not lift the body aloft. The enemy bombed, machine gunned, slaughtered, mutilated, beheaded, orphaned, and like vultures feasted on the festering flesh of China.

Was it skill that allowed the enemy to destroy? Five hundred raids in Kwangtung alone. Daily bombing of the railways. More than 3,000 bombs dropped. But the railways continue working. The Canton-Kowloon railway out of commission for maximum stretch of 12 hours. Was it courage? Chungshan University bombed. Sun-Yat-sen Memorial Hall bombed. Union Mission School bombed.

BY PERCY CHEN

And while the young fledglings of the Dragon breed were being nurtured in the bosom of China, the Japanese dwarfs revelled in their mischief and malice.

DOG FIGHTS

Dog fight over Hankow! Five Japanese planes shot down. Dog fight over Nanchang! Eight Japanese planes shot down. Dog fight over Nanchang! Eleven Japanese planes shot down. THE YOUNG DRAGONS ARE IN THE AIR.

Instructs the Japanese squadron leader: "Fly high—drop bombs—watch for Chinese planes." Timidly they come again. Over Canton two silver spots in the afternoon sunlight; 4,000 meters altitude. 12,000 feet. Chinese anti-aircraft batteries greeted them and from nowhere appeared Chinese pursuits—shooting both of them down.

Dog fights here, dog fights there. Every time Japanese raiding fleets returned home with two or more "falling to reach home bases," as the Japanese spokesmen would say.

SCENE SHIFTS

Defensive at almost all of these months, the young dragon made a sudden move. Early one morning, 30 machines took off one by one from an undivulged field. The engines zoomed with their propellers heading for the East. They flew towards the sea.

The scene now shifts to Formosa. Japanese are boasting of their aerial successes in China. Troops wiped out. Air squadrons destroyed. Cities razed to the ground. These are the feats of the Japanese dragon flies on!

ese air force, the mightiest in the Far East. During all this, the young Chinese dragons are flying and flying, carrying with them bombs which not only destroyed a Nippon fleet of 40 planes but exploded their claims of superiority in air might.

ATTACK ON FORMOSA
Like a thunder in the blue, the Chinese dragons suddenly appeared. Before the Japanese air defence forces had time to sound their sirens and load their anti-aircraft batteries, the Chinese dragons swooped down, laying their "eggs"—writing a new page in the history of the latest Far Eastern strife.

As the young Chinese dragons soared to the skies, flames burst out on the ground. The Japanese machines, neatly "anchored" in rows on the field, are reduced to ashes. Gasoline depots are aflame. Before the Japanese officers recovered from their shock, the young Chinese dragons dropped more bombs and caused more damage to the Japanese airdromes in Formosa—the air base ranking as important as the naval base in Sasebo. Completing their missions, the young Chinese dragons proudly and safely returned.

To the world, Tokyo announced with some embarrassment the surprise attack. The Chinese bombs, they say, fell far away from the airdromes. Six killed, 11 wounded—all civilians. Behind closed doors, radio tubes burned. The Formosan military received the severest reprimand. Caught napping! The entire Japanese air defence needs improvement because the Formosa raid shows loopholes in the system.

DRAGON FLIES ON!

What shall Japan do if the Chinese dragon eventually visits Tokyo, Osaka, Sasebo and others? Of course, the people shouldn't be told of the menace and the government feels 't. Retaliation, and retaliation immediately. Large fleets took the air with orders to bomb Hankow. Off they go; 20, 30, large squadrons leave to avenge the Formosan raid. Not only Hankow but also Canton are the targets.

Again the young dragon of China displayed its skill in attack as well as in defence. In Hankow, 11 machines were shot down. In Canton, about 10 within a week. The Young Dragon of China is showing its prowess.

HUGE FIRES RAGING IN PINGLU

Japanese Attempting To Cross Yellow River

Hankow, March 7.

With Chinese forces scattered in all parts of southern Shansi, fighting in that province has developed into a "free for all" without any definite defence or set position. The chief centre of fighting is in Pinglu, on the north bank of the Yellow River, opposite Shenhshien, on the Lunghai Railway between Loyang and Tungkwang. Fighting is also taking place in Yunchien, Hsianghsien and Chuwu, all in southern Shansi.

In eastern Shansi, severe fighting is taking place in Hsiangyuan, Singshui and Tungliu, west of Tungkwang. Huge fires are raging in Pinglu the flames being clearly visible from the south bank of the Yellow River, according to inhabitants of Shenhshien who add that gun-fire may also be heard.

The main body of the Chinese forces in southern Shansi are concentrated in two groups: one defending the western bank of the Feng River, and the other group massing in the mountains to the east of the Tungpu Railway.

Japanese forces in Shansi are attempting to cross the Yellow River at five points. The northernmost column, with its base at Pienkwan, near the Suiyuan-Shansi border, on the east bank of the Yellow River, is striking westward for Hoku with the intention of crossing the waterway where Suiyuan, Shensi and Shansi provinces meet.

Another column, with its base at Fengyang, having captured Lishih, is heading for Chiantu. The third column, based at Hsienshien, is striking westward for Futangtu. The main body of the Japanese forces is pushing down the Tungpu Railway heading for Fenglingtu near Tungkwang.

The fifth column, based at Chalsien on the Tungpu Railway, is advancing towards the southeast with the mountains on the north bank of the Yellow River opposite Shenhshien, Honan, as the objective.

The crossing at Fenglingtu is closed, and Chinese troops in Shansi are remaining in that province. Bridges and the railway tracks of the Tungpu Railway have been extensively destroyed in order to hold the Japanese advance. Locomotives and coaches, gathered at Fenglingtu, have also been blown up to the same end.—(Reuter).

PUCHOW CAPTURED

Shanghai, March 7.

The Japanese officially claim the capture of Puchow, the terminus of the Tatum-Puchow Railway, in the southernmost corner of Shansi at a bend in the Yellow River.—(Reuter).

TWO JAPANESE CONVICTED

TRESPASSING IN CAPE TOWN

Cape Town, March 7.

Two Japanese charged in the police court under the Defence Act with trespassing on forbidden territory, appeared again today.

Accused, who were unable to speak English, came ashore from the steamer Rio de Janeiro Maru. They were found walking inside the military enclosure at Lion Battery, on Signal Hill, which is a prohibited area fenced with barbed wire.

Both accused were found guilty. One was fined £3, in default one month's imprisonment, and the other, who was a youth, was reprimanded.

The magistrate said there was nothing to indicate they wanted to ascertain military positions and suggested that the Japanese Consul warn Japanese to be more careful in future.—(Reuter).

VACCINATION CAMPAIGN IN CANTON

GERMAN TRADE IN FAR EAST

ACUTE ANXIETY

Berlin, March 7.

Speeches at the banquet of the Hamburg-Bremen Far Eastern Association revealed the acute anxiety for German trade in the Far East.

A Government official, Herr Helfferich, said, "The future of German business houses in China fills us with anxiety and we are also concerned for trade with Japan. We are friends of both countries and, therefore, only desire the restoration of peace."—(Reuter).

The Executive Yuan, at a regular weekly meeting held on February 22, appointed Mr. Shih Tze-chow to be a member and concurrently Educational Commissioner of the Ninghsia Provincial Government, states a dispatch to the Sin Wen Pao. GOVERNMENT CRISIS IN RED SPAIN

Alleged Insistence Of Negrin's Resignation

Paris, March 7.

The Barcelona correspondent of Le Jour reports today that a serious Government crisis has arisen in Red Spain which is due, above all, to the fact that the Red population has completely lost confidence in the present Government.

Senor Negrin.

The broadcast message which the Premier, Senor Negrin, delivered on February 26 in order to allay the anxiety felt by the overwhelming majority of the Red population, failed to accomplish its object, since the address merely proved to the Red masses that the setback which the Red Army suffered at Teruel is due, above all, to political difficulties.

The correspondent asserts that the present Red War Commissar, Senor Prieto, demands that Premier Negrin should offer his resignation and that the Ministries of War and Interior and Finance be placed under his own control as Senor Negrin's successor to the Premiership.

Senor Prieto allegedly insists on Senor Negrin's definite and permanent resignation.—(Transocean).

FOUND IN RUINS

War Could Not Rout Pair From Harried District

Perhaps there is no district anywhere in Shanghai which was harder hit by the 1937 war. Yet, if one follows a certain devious path among crumbled walls and charred beams and steps over discouraging piles of bricks, one comes suddenly upon—life!

Every house that still stands in the terrace, off Juklin Road near East Yuhang Road, has been damaged by shell or fire and has been looted. One day Chinese soldiers were in possession of the block—their sandbag barricades may still be seen—and the next day the Japanese marines occupied it.

But through it all an elderly Chinese watchman and his 7-year-old daughter remained and, are still living at 117 Juklin Road, of which now only the ground floor stands, daylight even showing where a shell sheared off a part of its outside wall near the ceiling, states a special writer in the North China Daily News.

Only for a day or so did Foo Soong-ling and his tiny daughter, Shau Voong, leave their abode and hide in other houses to keep out of the actual hand-to-hand fighting.

They never left the district, however, and they have not been "south of the Creek" since last summer.

They are the only family that stayed in the area through the weeks of shelling, bombing, close-fighting and fires, and are still there.

In other houses near-by the curious intruder sometimes comes upon human bones, attesting death by violence or from starvation.

Old Foo and his child escaped unscathed.

FIGHTING IN SHANSI WILL DEVELOP TO ADVANTAGE OF CHINA IN NEAR FUTURE

Hankow, March 7.

High Chinese Army officials who have just returned to Hankow from the front declared to a Transocean representative that the fighting in Shansi province would develop to the advantage of China in the very future.

The officers' conviction seems to be confirmed by reports from the front stating that the Chinese are determined not to retreat southward to the Yellow River.

Whereas the Japanese claim to have taken complete possession of Tatum-Puchow Railway and to use it shortly for the transport of troops, the Chinese report that Chinese troops destroyed all the railway material, tracks and bridges so that the Japanese will be unable to use the railway.

The situation on the northern bank of the Yellow River is still completely undecided.—(Transocean).

NEW NOVELS TO

COST MORE

Shilling Increase On 7s 6d Books

New books are to cost more. An increase in the cost of practically all materials used in the publishing business has caused the rise in prices.

The type of book most affected is the longer novel, which costs 8s 6d instead of 7s 6d, and the 2s 6d reprints which, in some cases have been put up to 3s 6d.

Mr. G. Wren Howard, of Jonathan Cape Ltd., president of the Publishers' Association, stated that the extra cost of materials had to come from somewhere.

"Everything has gone up, paper, printing, binding, cloth, boards, cotton," he said. "In addition, there has been the agreement with the printing trade last October reducing working hours per week from 48 to 45. This was bound to affect costs."

Mr. Geoffrey Faber said: "The increases are slight and largely confined to fiction, because the profit on a novel is much smaller than on the higher-priced books of general interest. There is an understanding that the longer novels will be priced at 8s 6d. The shorter novels will still be 7s 6d."

SIXPENNY BOOK COMPETITION

Mr. Walter Harrap said: "The rise in the price of the cheap reprints is not only due to higher cost of materials. The competition of the 6d editions has hit the 2s 6d editions, and to make them an economic proposition it has been necessary to raise the price." A representative of J. M. Dent

Congress In Denmark

One of the biggest scientific congresses ever held in Denmark will open on August at the University of Copenhagen. This is the second International Anthropological Congress. It will last until Aug. 8.

The first congress took place in London in 1934, and it is regarded here as a great honour that Copenhagen should have been chosen for the second meeting.

King Christian will probably open the congress, which will be presided over by Mr. Stauning, the Prime Minister; Mr. Joergensen, Minister for Education; and Dr. Munch, Foreign Minister. The chairman of the organising committee is Mr. Thomas Thomsen, one of Denmark's foremost anthropologists and inspector of the National Museum. The Greenland explorer, Dr. Kaj Birket-Smith, has been appointed general secretary.

It is expected that between 600 and 800 scientists from all countries will attend.

There would be a slight increase in some school books and in individual educational books. The firm would now hesitate before issuing 2s 6d editions involving heavy expense.

UNINTERESTING BATTING BY THE INDIANS

Game With Club Reviewed

By "New L.B.W."

Cricket verging on the sensational was played on Saturday and in view of the results a revision might well have to be made in forecasting the ultimate destination of the Senior Shield.

The three leading teams, Indian R.C., Kowloon C.C. and Craigen-gower, were all engaged and, whereas the last-named seized with both hands their opportunity against a weak Army side, the Indians lost a great chance of beating the Club, and Kowloon slipped up badly against Club de Recrelo.

With Kowloon it was a case of their having the misfortune to run into one of the most powerful hitters now playing locally in his best form, and this rather upset all calculations. The Indians had only themselves to blame for the loss of two valuable points. They did very well (or rather two of their youngest batsmen did) up to a point, but then an inexplicable indecisiveness and ultra safety-first tactics on the part of two of their best bats ruined for them a very good chance of a win and in the end they might even have lost had the game gone on a little longer.

The Indians-Club game was one in which the interest was sustained from the first ball bowled to the last. Minu won the toss and, though he could not possibly have been sure of the wicket, did the right thing in sending in the Club. Leckie and Kilbee opened the match starting 12 minutes late, and both were soon at home, the latter in particular being free.

Beautiful Hit

Ten went up on the board and shortly after Leckie put Minu out of the ground, a beautiful effortless on-shot.

At 24 A. H. Madar was put on and a little while after a chance to run out Kilbee was spoiled by a bad return. About this time Kilbee was also lucky with a snick or two through the slips.

Runs were now coming freely but at 45, when it seemed the pair had definitely settled down to a really big partnership, Leckie did not quite get hold of one from Minu and was nicely taken by Razin at long-off. An attractive and free innings, marred only by a hard chance in the gully, 45-1-23. Shortly after Kilbee kicked his wicket in attempting a pull.

Two for 47 was, from the Indian viewpoint, very much better than 0 for 45, and, when Owen-Hughes was held by Nazarin in the gully off a hard shot that might as

Indians Bat

The Indians innings began at 4.35, after an early reverse. Ismail being dismissed for 7-1-7. Nazarin and Kitchell were associated in a free partnership of 50. Nazarin was the more aggressive of the two and was obviously seeing them very well. It came as a surprise when he was bowled by Pearce for 30.

A. H. Madar joined Kitchell and things slowed down considerably. A thin drizzle set in at about 5.15 and it became difficult to grip the ball. However, the batsmen also found it none too easy to move about. At 5.40 Kitchell got out to a catch at deep square leg which, Hayward judged to be a nicety.

VICTORY FOR THE NAVY

Value Of Goal Kicking

London, Feb. 20.

Royal Navy 10 pts. R.A.F. 6

A lull in the international championship brought the opening match of the Triangular Tournament among the Services at Twickenham in which the Royal Navy beat the Royal Air Force by two goals to a penalty goal and a try, writes a Home correspondent. It looked anything but a Naval occasion to begin with in face of the furious rushes of the Air Force forwards, the skilful combination of G. A. Walker and J. A. Sowerbutts, at half-back, and the speed of D. H. M. Craven, the left wing.

Clearly, though, this year's Navy XV. have a way with them, as the Army, for all their array of Internationals, may discover. From being beaten for sheer speed, doing all manner of anguishing things in the way of dropped passes, they staunchly weathered the storm, got back five out of six points when they needed them most on half-time, and then set about winning the second half.

FORLORN SCRAMBLING

By then a deal of forlorn scrambling had developed into a full-blooded struggle of fine skill, well worth watching in the sunshine by a large gathering who yet looked dwarfed in the Twickenham stands. The Navy forwards had only to settle down to hold an opposing pack that had been dominant and it was largely through them that success was achieved.

It anything the Air Force forwards, always a fast-following menace in the loose, had more of the ball, but they had not a back row of spoilers to compare with W. H. Crawford, the hero of Murrayfield, whose two goal-kicks made all the difference. R. J. L. Hammond, and above anyone on the field, J. K. Watkins, who always, untiringly for eighty minutes, was on the ball.

RIFLE SHOOTING

Full Range Postal Match

With the warm approval and support of the Dominions, Colonial and Foreign Offices, the National Rifle Association has instituted a 303 Full Range Postal Match for one or two teams of eight British Subjects or British Protected Persons resident or stationed in 51 Colonies, Protectorates and Countries of the Empire. If two teams are entered, one team must use Rifles S.R. (a), and the other team Rifles S.R. (b). No member of a team may fire or in any way take any part in both classes.

The conditions are similar to those of the Morning Post (Junior Kolapore) Match, to compete in which many of them already send teams to Bisley each year.

The match may be fired, under official supervision, on any day between January 1, and December 31, and on any range in the competing country; the certified results will be sent to the N.R.A. for adjudication.

H.R.H. "The Duke of Gloucester's" Challenge Cup and "Lord Wakefield" Silver Medals, presented by the Viscount Wakefield of Hythe, will be awarded to the Captain and Coach (if appointed) and to each member of the winning team. "Lord Wakefield" Silver Medals will similarly be given to the team which makes the highest aggregate score with Rifles S.R. (a). Bronze Medals will also be awarded to the second teams in order of merit in each Series.

TEAMS FROM OVERSEAS

The attendance of Overseas teams from British Dominions and Possessions at Bisley's Imperial Meeting has of recent years been most encouraging. Since 1926 no less than 121 teams from 24 different countries in the four Continents have visited Bisley in July to compete with the Mother Country, or with one another for the Senior and Junior Kolapore Prizes. The expenses of sending teams from such remote places as the Falkland Islands, Trinidad, Ceylon and Hong Kong are very heavy and make it impossible to hope for annual visits from every one, but the match will help to keep inter-country rivalry alive, and it is hoped may lead to an even wider representation of Overseas Teams at Bisley.

CONDITIONS OF MATCH

The conditions of the Overseas 303 Full Range Postal Match, 1938, follow:—

Open to one or two teams of Eight British Subjects and/or British Protected Persons resident or stationed in each of the following Colonies, Protectorates, and Countries:—

If two teams are entered, one team must use Rifles S.R. (a) and the other team Rifles S.R. (b). No member of a Team may fire or in any way take any part in both classes.

Members of the Royal Navy, Royal Marines, Regular Army, Royal Air Force, Local Forces, Police and Civilians are eligible to shoot.

RUMJAHN COUSINS SHOW BIG IMPROVEMENT

But Tennis Matches Again Prove Very Dull

There was little to enthuse about in the matches played in yesterday's programme in the Colony tennis championships. Results went as expected, and the standard of play, was, largely speaking, far from high.

The Rumjahn cousins, doubles holders, advanced further, at the expense of P. C. Leung and Marsland, but the match was so one-sided as to be practically devoid of interest.

Marsland was not afraid to hit the ball hard but his partner P. C. Leung was, frankly, innocuous. The former sent over some flashing cross-court drives which on more than one occasion left Sirdar Rumjahn standing but he was not consistent enough.

The champions both improved 50 per cent. on their form last week, even taking into consideration the weaker opposition, with S.A. particularly good. Towards the end they were obviously concentrating on Marsland to give the game some interest.

GOOD NET PLAY

Harry Owen-Hughes and T. A. Pearce were far too good for L. Lew and Peter U. They were almost impassable at the net, their long reach being a great asset here and Pearce sent over many a drive to which the opposition could hardly even get the racket.

Another, easy win was that of D. C. Leung and S. W. Wong over Wei Chung and O. L. Pang, while Barros and Gonsalves also had little trouble in disposing of W. F. Wong and P. Y. Cheng.

LIANG WINS

The best singles match was that between Liang Sal-wah and A. V. Gosano, which the former won by 6-3, 6-4. It was closer than the scores perhaps indicate, however, and had Gosano managed to press home an advantage he held just before the end, anything might have happened, as Liang was showing signs of "bellows to bend."

F. A. Broadbridge gave a rather disappointing display against Land of the Army, losing in straight sets and getting only four games.

Ismail Abdul-Razack had no difficulty with D. K. Leung, and won with the loss of only three games.

SINGLES

Scores:— W. A. Land beat F. A. Broadbridge 6-1, 6-3.
I. M. A. Razack beat D. K. Leung 6-1, 6-2.
S. W. Liang beat A. V. Gosano 6-3, 6-4.

DOUBLES

D. C. Leung and S. W. Wong beat Wei Chung and O. L. Pang 6-0; 6-3.
H. Owen Hughes and T. A. Pearce beat L. Lew and Peter U. 6-1, 6-2.
H. A. Barros and J. Gonsalves beat W. F. Wong and P. Y. Cheng 6-3, 6-1.
S. A. Rumjahn and H. D. Rumjahn beat P. C. Leung and Marsland 6-1, 6-1.

INTERNATIONAL GROUP'S VISIT TO THE NORTHWEST

The following article was contributed to the Central China Post by Miss Frances Roots who organized the party of five foreigners consisting, besides herself, of Deaconess J. A. Clark, Miss R. I. M. Suess and Messrs John Foster and Charles Higgin, for the purpose of conveying messages of friendship and sympathy with the victims of the war and wintry weather as well as gifts of money, socks, gloves and other small but very acceptable gifts.

We were told before leaving Hankow for the northwest that we were the first international group to visit districts behind the Front bearing messages of friendship and sympathy for the victims of war and winter cold. But not until we actually presented our gifts of money, socks, gloves and small luxuries did we realize the significance of hard cash as proof of our fine words.

The reception in itself was overwhelming. But it did not end there. All the way back from Shansi—on our crowded third class carriage, crossing the sandy bed of the Yellow River, in shops and tea houses—somehow or other people had heard of our errand and showered us with warm words of appreciation and countless courtesies and attentions. A soldier on crutches, wounded three months ago at Kuo-hsien, insisted that the huddled figures of men and women crowded into our car and sitting in the aisles should not unduly brush our clothes or hinder what little sleep we could get sitting bolt upright on a hard bench.

THE JOURNEY

We set out from Hankow in all the luxury of a third class sleeping car. All extra space was filled with the boxes and parcels of contributions we were shepherding to the north, although we had to leave the major bulk of our luggage to come by a slower train—1000 pair of socks and 1000 pairs of gloves for the Partisans of the cold northwest. Instead of suffering from cold we nearly died that first night from the heat. During the whole trip cold was the least of our worries, even in the spacious and draughty Box Car which housed us overnight from the Yellow River to Linfen. Dust was a fiercer enemy, and had little respect for the conventional decencies of dress or face, sifting into every wrinkle and crease and at one stage transforming us all into creatures of clay—excellent camouflage for air-raids.

Our route took us through Chengchow and Tungkwang by train into the heart of southern Shansi, ending in the midst of the fertile valley of the Fen River fertile splits the province from north to south between high ranges of mountains and table land. Everywhere we had the hospitality of the Army which gave us food when we were hungry, a bed when we were tired, and guards through the most difficult stretches of the trip for the protection of our precious cargo. It may be well to state clearly here that though we were escorting supplies and medicines and money for the civilian population of the north, we were obliged to accept the services of the army for transport and protection, as theirs was the only means of ensuring its safe delivery.

REORGANIZED ARMY

Much of our cargo was to go behind the Japanese lines into "occupied" territory, and obviously the army was the only medium of transportation. This meant that we saw something of the fighting force of China, much of which had been only recently reorganized. Our general impression was one of renewed enthusiasm and optimism. In our interview with General Wei Li Hwang at Linfen we caught a glimpse of the potentiality of these new forces, and both at the Eighth Route Army Headquarters and elsewhere we met newly formed groups of organized youth—Governor Yen Hsi San's "Dare to Die Corps," "The Northwest Front Service Group" of boys and girls under the leadership of China's famous woman writer, Ding Ling, and so on. The northwest was alive not only with strengthened military forces but with a fresh current of enthusiasm and service among the people themselves.

We made our longest visit with the Eighth Route Army at their Headquarters as they were transporting most of our contribution to the Partisans behind the lines. Again we found a welcome that showed an overwhelming apprecia-

FLIER TELLS OF FINDING GREAT WATERFALL

Never Before Seen By White Men

In a skyscraper office high above Wall Street, Mr. "Jimmy" Angell, the famous American flier who recently returned to New York from Central America, spoke about his discovery of the world's highest waterfall in the heart of Venezuela.

Near the Brazilian frontier, Mr. Angell stated, there stretches 400 miles of wilderness, inhabited only by a few scattered tribes of semi-civilized Indians and virtually inaccessible except by aeroplane. This region was explored centuries ago by Jesuit missionaries and Spanish conquistadores, whose rough maps still exist.

The district remained isolated for many decades, however, and it was not until a few years ago, when the quest for oil sent exploring parties into the jungle, that fliers discovered uncharted mountains and a tableland, called Mount Auyantepuy standing 8,000ft high.

This tableland, which covers an area of about 300 square miles, had never been penetrated by white men. From it flows the world's highest waterfall to drop 8,000ft sheer from the top to a plain below.

PLANE DRENCHED
Long-range photographs in Mr. Angell's possession clearly show the waterfall cascading from the tableland. He flew so close, he said, that the machine was drenched with spray.

In landing his machine became bogged, and he and his wife had to make their way down as best they could on foot to an emergency camp, from where a Venezuelan Government plane finally rescued them.

Mr. Angell, who is employed in gold prospecting, will return in a few weeks in another plane to continue his explorations.

It is to this area that the new "lost world" expedition—which is sponsored by the American Museum of Natural History—is soon setting out.

"Toddy" Ban Hits Plantation Owners

A "vast improvement" in business and a considerable decrease in crime are reported to have resulted from the "experimental" introduction of prohibition in the Salem district of Madras, by the Congress Government.

A few inhabitants on the outskirts of the area cross the border to drink in the "wet districts," but it is stated that there is no longer any drunkenness.

The police report a definite drop in the amount of crime. One sign of the business improvement is that number of small shops is rapidly increasing.

The men who used to make their living from the drink-trade—those who tapped coconut-trees for "toddy" have accepted the change in their fortunes philosophically. Some have moved off to other districts; others are learning to produce molasses from the coconuts.

Considerable losses have been experienced, however, by the majority of the owners of coconut plantation, the value of whose properties has deteriorated heavily. Nevertheless, despite this advantage, which was considered inevitable, the prohibition experiment is reported to be an undoubted success from the social and moral points of view.

TRADE CONDITIONS REVIEWED

Decline In Commodity And Security Prices

The turn of the year is an appropriate occasion for reviewing the events of the twelve months which have just passed and for comparing the present situation with that ruling at the close of 1936, states the Monthly Review of Barclays Bank Ltd.

At that time it was possible to look back upon over four years of sustained recovery in this country and to look forward with a certain degree of confidence to some measure of further improvement in economic conditions.

Complete statistical data for the whole of 1937 are not yet available, but the figures so far published are sufficient to show that the hopes entertained at the beginning of the year were well founded.

For example, according to the Board of Trade Index of Production, output in the three months ended June, 1937, both for manufacturing industries and for all groups combined, was the greatest recorded in any quarter up to that time, while amongst the individual items, the figures for iron and steel, textiles, engineering and shipbuilding, non-ferrous metals, chemicals, oils, etc., and the factory output of food, drink and tobacco reached fresh high levels.

In accordance with the usual seasonal trend, the indices for the September quarter showed a recession from these high figures, but, while the decline was more marked than has been the case in recent years, the indices for practically all the industrial groups were much above those for the corresponding period twelve months earlier, and in the case of non-ferrous metals the index was even higher than for the preceding three months.

DECLINE IN PRICES

An indication of the value of these statistics as a guide to the progress made is afforded by the fact that the sections of industry covered represent over 70 per cent. of the total manufacturing and mining activity of the United Kingdom and, apart from building, about 90 per cent. of the total activity of the industrial groups for which calculations are made. For building, the proportion is about 30 per cent.

The past year, however, has been by no means free from disturbing influences and the decline in commodity and security prices in recent months is symptomatic of the element of uncertainty to which these influences have given rise.

NEW AMERICAN BOND ISSUE

Refinancing Move To Replace March Maturities

Washington, Mar. 6.
Mr. Henry Morgenthau, Secretary of the United States Treasury, today announced the terms of the March refinancing operations.

He stated that the Treasury was offering 10 1/2 year 2 1/2 per cent. Treasury Bonds in exchange for the U.S. $455,000,000 three per cent. notes which were maturing on March 15.

The offering would be limited, he said.
Calling attention to the longer maturity of the issue, Mr. Morgenthau said the conditions indicated an improved Government bond market. (Reuter.)

VALUE OF NATIONAL THRIFT

Speaking at the annual general meeting of the York County Savings Bank, of which he is president, at York recently, the Earl of Harewood said that he thought it was worth nothing that Trustee Savings Banks, including the Post Office, had now no fewer than 13,000,000 depositors in the country with over £700,000,000 as the amount of their deposits.
Children, he said, used to be taught at a much earlier age than they were now to make savings and start a banking account, and it was suggested that it would be a very good thing if that Victorian habit was revived.

CRICKET NOTES

It was obvious some quick runs were wanted now and Minu changed the order and went in himself. Owen-Hughes was put on for him, but Minu hit him for two fours. Soon after Pearce got him to play outside one, however, 109-4-12.

All this time, Madar had been going along stolidly and placidly, getting a single here and a two there. He made one beautiful glide to leg for four but apart from this he seemed content to keep his wicket up and let the runs come.
A Rahim joined him at this crucial point of the game when a quick 25-30 perhaps would have given the Indians the match. After an over or two Rahim did try desperately hard to get the ball away, but Madar went on with his occasional singles and twos.
It should have been perfectly obvious to Madar that the right thing to do at this stage was to "hit out or get out." There were five other men to go in, and surely at the worst came to the worst, they could have averted defeat?

Magnificent Catch

Just on 130 Rahim was clean bowled by Owen-Hughes and M. el Arculli went in—a lot depending on him as the last accepted batter in the side (with due respect to that old campaigner Arthur Rum-jahn). He made no bones about things and the very first ball he received from Owen-Hughes he got right down to and swung round to leg—all the way a four, so it looked. But Ride, fielding at deep mid-wicket, ran very fast and got his hand to the ball almost as it was going over the fence, and held it. A magnificent catch, and bad luck for the batsman.

Madar had crossed over during the catch and on the next ball Fox held him at the wicket. Owen-Hughes thus did a most unexpected hat-trick, and the game had taken a sudden swing-round.

There was still about ten minutes to go and 20-odd runs to get. I believe the Indians had now given up all idea of a win, and orders were issued to A. M. Rum-jahn to stay there.

Lackie provided a last-minute thrill when he bowled Arthur Rum-jahn, but the younger Madar, with A. M. Rum-jahn as his partner, safely played out a few balls, and the last man did not have to go in.

A very good game, played mostly in poor weather conditions, and, though a draw was perhaps the fairest result, the Indians should have won but for that period in the cold runs in the 120's. As it was, it is quite conceivable they would have lost if the game had lasted another over or two.

Notes on the Army-Cricket game will appear in our issue of tomorrow.

ROYAL SCOTS BEAT ARMY

As regards personnel of the Royal Navy, the words "resident or stationed in" shall be deemed to refer to Officers and Ratings holding appointments in dockyards, shore establishments and harbour ships, who may be regarded as being eligible for participation.

SHOOTING CONDITIONS

Shooting Conditions (as for the Morning Post, Junior Kolapore), viz:—

Distances: 300, 500, 600-yards (aggregate).
No. of Shots: Ten and one s.s. per firer at each distance.

Time limit: One hour at each distance.

No. of Targets: Two per team (See special note under Conduct of the Match).

Dress: Any.
Entrance Fee: £2 from each team to be paid when application is made for registers.

The Rifles used will be as defined by N.R.A. Regulations, viz:—S.R. (a) S.M.L.E. as issued, open sights and without slings; S.R. (b) S.M.L.E. regulated in any manner approved by the N.R.A., or the "1914" pattern, which may be "stocked up" in accordance with the official instructions published on page 98a, Eisleys Programme Book, 1937.

With S.R. (b) aperture sights and slings are allowed.
Minimum "pull-off" for all rifles 5-lbs.

Preliminary practice on the day of the match, or rests for supporting the rifle or body are not allowed.

All members of a team must fire on the same range on the same day.

No one may represent or shoot for more than one Colony or Protectorate in any one year, nor may he shoot in or assist more than one team in this match.

CONDUCT OF THE MATCH

1. On receipt of the entrance fee by the Secretary, National Rifle Association, Defence Force, or Captain of the team concerned, special Firing Point and Butt Registers will be forwarded: no others will be recognised.

2. Superintending Officers.—A Commissioned Officer, serving or retired (who may be the Captain of the team firing), failing whom some responsible individual appointed by His Excellency the Governor or other appropriate authority, shall supervise at the firing point. He will check the range distances; he will enter in ink the ranks and names of his team in the order in which they will fire and the Target No. or Letter on the Firing Point Register.

A similar officer or individual as above shall superintend in the butts and shall personally verify the target dimensions and enter all hits as they are made on the Butt Register in ink. He must have a copy of these conditions with him. Both officers will sign the certificates on their respective Registers and the Superintending Officer will forward them to the National Rifle Association under sealed cover immediately on the conclusion of the team's firing.

NUMBER OF TARGETS

In the case of teams desiring to use more than 2 targets per team, authority is given for duplicate Butt Registers to be made in the proportion of 1 per target, and the scores entered thereon transferred to the official Butt Register on the conclusion of the match. In such cases an additional Butt Superintending Officer will be appointed. All Duplicates must, however, accompany the original Butt Register when forwarding same to the N.R.A.

TARGETS

Eisleys, 1938. The Aiming Mark is a black semi-circle. The top half of the target is coloured sky grey; the lower half ochre.
